B. & M. SIGNS THE CONTRACT

With Citizens' Material Company to Operate Electric Road to Greenland

The contract between the Boston & Maine Railroad and the Citizens' Material Co., owners of the Portsmouth and Greenland Electric Railway was signed Wednesday afternoon by Vice President T. E. Byrnes representing the Boston & Maine. The papers will now be signed by the officials of the local company and that part of the deal will be closed. Judge S. W. Emery representing the former owners of the Portsmouth & Exeter R. R. informed a Herald man yesterday that the matter of the stockholders of the former road giving their approval of the transfer was a matter of form. This question had been raised by the purchasers in this city. The matter of transfer and all the legal question have been as per the papers on the question of raising the funds, but as The Herald maintained at the outset, the road will be paid for and operated in spite of reports to the contrary and the efforts of "knockers" to prevent it.

POLICE NOTIFIED TO APPREHEND

Woman Who Escaped from Worcester State Hospital

The police have been requested to watch out for Mrs. Amelia Leonard who recently made her escape from the Massachusetts State Hospital at Worcester. The woman is known by several aliases, Mrs. Win Bain, Phillys Emily Burton and Leonard. She has done nursing in many places in the United States and Canada and in private families. The Massachusetts authorities say she is likely to apply for work at her profession. She is 28 years old, weighs 125 pounds, fair complexion, grayish blue eyes, hair brown. She tells a good story that will enlist sympathy at once. She has previously been sentenced to the Sherborn Reformatory for larceny. After serving a short time, she was declared insane and transferred to the state hospital from which she escaped.

ANSWERS THE LAST ROLL CALL

Joseph R. Curtis, Civil War
Veteran and Newspaper
Man, Dead

Joseph R. Curtis, the well known Civil war veteran and newspaper man died at the Portsmouth hospital this Thursday morning where he was taken for treatment for a stomach trouble. He was born in Belfast, Me., March 10, 1845, the son of Charles G. and Harriet Abbott Curtis.

At the outbreak of the war of the Rebellion he enlisted in Co. I, First Maine Cavalry and saw much service. After the war he came to this city and has since made his home here. He was a member of the Portsmouth Light Artillery and at the dedication exercises of Langdon park, his right arm was maimed by a premature explosion during the salute.

He was for several years United States store keeper at Ward's distillery and was also an inspector of customs. For the past twelve years he has been employed on the navy yard as a messenger in the general store department.

In 1884 Mr. Curtis was one of the founders and publishers of the Penny Post now The Herald. He wielded a trenchant pen and his work bore a personality, not possessed by many local writers. Of late years he has been the navy yard correspondent for a local paper.

He was for years prominently identified with Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., but of late years has had his interest centered in Gen. Gilman Marston Command, Union Veterans Union being Past Colonel of the organization. He was also a member of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. and A. M.

He is survived by a daughter Mrs.

But Four Jurors Secured in Ettor Trial at Salem---Prisoners Demand Bail

Salem, Mass., Oct. 2.—Four jurors had been chosen for the trial of Joseph J. Ettor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, charged with being responsible for the alleged murder of Anna Lopizzo during the Lawrence textile strike last winter when the 350 tailmen became exhausted late today and Judge Quinn ordered an adjournment to Oct. 14. On that day a new panel of 350 men eligible for jury duty will report and the efforts to fill the jury box will continue.

Next Monday morning Judge Quinn will hear arguments on a motion to be filed by counsel for the defense in which they are expected to ask for the release of the prisoner on suitable bail. The court declined to allow the matter to be argued this afternoon, as the motion had not previously been filed with the clerk. District Attorney Harry C. Atwell, who is conducting the case for the commonwealth, said it was not within his province to object to such a motion, as it was a matter to be decided entirely at the discretion of the presiding justice.

Two instances in which defendants in capital cases in Massachusetts have been released on bonds were cited as precedents by counsel for the defense in an interview tonight. In one instance the prisoner so released was under indictment by the grand jury, as are the three defendants in this trial.

Ettor and Giovannitti, who are charged with being accessories before the fact to the murder of Miss Lopizzo, have been in custody since January 30, when they were arrested at Lawrence. Caruso, an alleged principal in the shooting, was arrested some time later, after he had been indicted. A fourth man, also charged with being a principal, is under indictment, but has never been found. An effort was made to have Ettor and Giovannitti released under bonds when they appeared in the lower court and later counsel sought a writ of habeas corpus in the higher court but it was denied on Feb. 6.

The jurors were selected during the three days of the trial thus far are: Christian W. Larsen, Haverhill; Robert S. Stillman, carpenter, Rockport; Willis B. Cressy, sailmaker, Gloucester; and George F. Burkes, leather dealer, Lynn. The two first were picked Monday and the other two today. One hundred and fifteen talesmen remained to be questioned when the court convened this morning and it was not until seventeen had been called that Judge Quinn found in Cressy a juror satisfactory to the court, commonwealth and defense. Burkes was the seventy-fourth examined today and the 210th talesman called since the opening of the trial.

Three men who were passed by the court and the commonwealth were objected to by the defense because it was alleged, their names as talesmen were not properly drawn. The judge took the objection of counsel under consideration and ordered the men to report when the trial is resumed. They are George H. Durgin, a salesman, and Frank M. Symonds, both of Saugus; and Charles W. Appleton, tax collector of the town of Hamilton. Sheriff Samuel A. Johnson was ordered to investigate the cases of three others who failed to respond when their names were called, to see if they had suitable excuses.

EXETER LETTER

The annual meeting of the Rockingham County Republican Club will be held at the probate room Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the election of officers will take place. It is likely that the attendance will be large as the interest is fast increasing with the approach of election. Exeter is doing much for the republican party, and it is likely that there will be many rallies booked here for the near future.

Since the primary election of Sept. 1, interest has not lagged. The notices of the meeting has been sent out by the secretary, Robert Scott. President Charles I. Pressy of Atkinson, is absent in California, where he went directly after the primary.

No Danger of Chance Being Removed as Manager of Cubs

CHICAGO, October, 3.—Frank Chance will manage the Cubs again next season and perhaps many more unless bad health causes him to quit. The recent squabble between President Charlie Murphy of the Chicago club and Manager, Chance caused quite a little stir in baseball circles. It was said that Murphy had declared that Chance had resigned, and the Chicago team would have a new leader next year. Chance denied this, and said he would quit only when fired. The whole story is that the Cubs' team needs Chance more than President Murphy, and there is no danger of the manager being removed. Making a rough guess the experts would say that there are only eleven other interest in the business just to save him around. Chance is one of the greatest managers base ball has ever produced. He came to Chicago as a player in 1894 and in 1897 succeeded the late Frank Selee as manager of the team. During his management the Cubs won two world's championships, and for league pennants and Chance became known as one of the greatest first basemen in the game.

and one of the vice presidents will preside at the meeting.

Laura M. Brunn, the 17 year old girl, who it is alleged went away from her home here with Katherine Gattley and who has been missing since then has sent word to her mother, Mrs. Wilhelmina Brunn, and his two administrations as president that she is safe in Brooklyn, N. Y., and supporting Mr. Taft. Mr. Lodge and Mr. Crane of Massachusetts, Mr. Root and Mr. Depew of New York, Mr. Fairbanks of Indiana and Mr. Cannon of Illinois are among the number.

It is true there was a bolt, and Mr. Roosevelt led it. Falling to control the convention in his own heaving to the high wind. Yesterday morning a party of local sportsmen composed of Fred N. Hartz, Fred A. Dunn and Walter S. Carlisle were probably the first to get into the woods, and they brought back six partridges, one of the shots being by Mr. Dunn and was said to be extremely difficult.

A Premature Death Notice.

At Montgomery, Ala., Mr. Roosevelt asked his hearers to compare the progressive platform with the republican platform because the republican party is dead. A confident and even jaunty assertion, and characteristic of the man who killed Cock Robin.

But, is Cock Robin dead? What are the evidences? Mr. Roosevelt's unsupported assertion is not sufficient to secure a burial permit.

At Chicago in June the republican party in regular form adopted a platform and nominated a presidential ticket, and the action taken had been endorsed by republicans in good standing in every state in the Union. Many of the men who stood by Mr. Roosevelt when he was a republican and helped him to make a success of his two administrations as president are supporting Mr. Taft. Mr. Lodge and Mr. Crane of Massachusetts, Mr. Root and Mr. Depew of New York, Mr. Fairbanks of Indiana and Mr. Cannon of Illinois are among the number.

It is true there was a bolt, and Mr. Roosevelt led it. Falling to control the convention in his own heaving to the high wind. Yesterday morning a party of local sportsmen composed of Fred N. Hartz, Fred A. Dunn and Walter S. Carlisle were probably the first to get into the woods, and they brought back six partridges, one of the shots being by Mr. Dunn and was said to be extremely difficult.

But that was not the death knell of the republican party. At most it was an assault on the party by those who had professed by principles and been their prominence in affairs to the organization they were now enlisted to destroy.

Mr. Roosevelt and his aggregation of trust agents, small, but aspiring bosses, men striving to hold on to office, or to recover office recently lost, will be defeated next month and then must take account of where they are. If Mr. Wilson is elected they will have helped to bring about the result, and if he and his combination fail in office and business uncertainty produces hard times the so-called progressives will be

URGES ADOPTION OF THE FIRE MARSHAL LAW

Commissioner Merrill Says Fire Loss Is Far Too Great in State

The report of the insurance commissioner Robert J. Merrill was issued today. The volume is for the year ending August 31, 1912.

Commissioner Merrill declares in his report that New Hampshire's fire loss is far too great. He says:

Commissioner Adams in his report covering the business of 1910, congratulated the fire insurance companies doing business in New Hampshire, and the people of the state upon a reduction of $135,555.00 in the fire loss from that of 1909. I regret that the figures of 1911 do not permit me to announce so pleasing a result, showing as they do, an increase over those of 1910 of over $150,000.00 in the losses of the companies reporting to this department, and only being exceeded twice during the last ten years. When it is considered that there are no conflagrations in the state during 1911, and so conspicuously large fires it is an impressive fact that in a state the size of New Hampshire property can be destroyed causing a loss to the licensed insurance companies of approximately a million dollars to say nothing of the losses paid by uncensured institutions, and those not covered by insurance without the real significance of the effect of such loss being comprehended by our citizens. The matter of fire loss is one of the most important confronting the country today, and while the result in New Hampshire has little to do with the general situation, yet this is the only portion of the country with which we are called upon to deal. It is not the great conflagration alone which compels a careful consideration of this question. It is the constant steady drain, year in and year out, resulting in the annual destruction of a quarter of a million upon the country, dismissed as it may be by the method of distribution adopted throughout the medium of the insurance companies. This drain must be stopped, and we of New Hampshire must do our part. The cause are due to many specific causes, but may be traced to a few fundamental reasons, carelessness in 'reference— and the rapid development of our modern life being chiefly in education, partly in legislation, but no change can be brought about without a true conception of the importance of the matter by the people. I most strongly urge upon the communities of the state the adoption of proper building ordinances and regulations relative to combustibles, in which work the different commercial organizations ought to take a prominent and influential part. I am convinced that the state ought to adopt a fire marshal law giving such marshal authority to compel improved conditions, as well as investigate the causes of fires as compared with the proper machinery for their prevention, there is little profit in discovering the reasons of fires after the event, save only as the result of such inquiries be applied with a view of remedying existing conditions.

held partly responsible by the court. Meanwhile the republican party, though out of power, will be intact. Those who stood by the colors in the storm will be known and respected by the organization, and in charge of its machinery. Cock Robin's death? In the next two years he may prove to be a very live bird again indeed.—Washington Star.

AND COMMITTEE IN
STORMY SESSION*Told of His Expenditures for Roosevelt and Claimed It Was All Aimed at Bull Moose.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Senator Dixon, "the only member of the Joseph M. Dixon, Col. Roosevelt's committee friendly to Col. Roosevelt," political manager, had a stormy session today with the Chappin committee, which had been summoned to investigate campaign expenditures. Senator Dixon demanded to know whether he had spent $600,000 to secure President Taft's renomination, and the committee agreed to consider the matter.

The $600,000, Senator Dixon said, was in addition to the $141,000 Mr. Hooker told of yesterday, handled by the Roosevelt headquarters in New York; the $52,000 Hooker had any other candidate, and challenged the committee to call Charles P. Taft, John Thomas F. Ryan and other men said he had given for Pennsylvania.

The $25,000 each contributed by Perkins, Munsey and Hanna were expenditures for either President Taft, Gov. Wilson or Gov. Harmon. Senator Dixon said he had kept no accurate record of his expenditures. He said $25,000 had come from George W. Perkins, $25,000 from Frank A. Munsey, $25,000 from Dan R. Hanna, and that "whenever we got desperately hard up I went back to Perkins."

Senator Dixon's charges that the Bank of New York, Mr. Cannon's committee was investigating only Col. Roosevelt's expenses and intended to let those of Taft, Wilson, Harmon, publican National Committee in 1904, Underwood and Clark go until "after" His audit does not show the names of contributors to the Republican campaign of that year, and the committee Chairman Clapp took the Senators want to ask Mr. Cannon if charge as a personal reflection upon him remembers any of them in the original records, which were destroyed.

Senator Dixon's statement was the first thing to claim the attention of the committee when it met. Senator Pomeroy resented the Montana Senator's criticism of the committee, and he and Senators Clapp, Paynter and Oliver held a private conference to determine what was to be done about it.

The committee concluded its executive session without announcing any action and Mr. Cannon took the stand.

Mr. Cannon said that he audited only the accounts of expenditures by the late Mr. Bliss, and had no knowledge of the contributions to the fund. Specifically, he said, he knew nothing of the $100,000 contribution John D. Archbold has said was made by the Standard Oil Company to Col. Roosevelt's 1904 campaign. He knew nothing of any contributions to any National campaign funds.

WALKING TOILETS.

Ribbed and corded materials have by no means lost their charm, and there are some delightful cinnamon browns in the new autumn fabrics which are certain to attract attention. Purple, plum and garnet tones are to appear, but toned down with black or a darker tint in braid. A new gray huffing from Paris has quite a greenish tinge, and is yet quite different from the well-known rosebud, and it is said to be extremely becoming to the auburn-haired blonde.

Garnet is exceedingly smart in a fine silky serge, but the braids, buttons and cords are infinitely smarter if matched exactly, as a black trimming is too pronounced. Completed by an all black chapeau, the garnet costume is chic.

MISS MCINTIRE REMEMBERED.

Miss Marion McIntire of this city the accomplished organist at the Trinity church, York, Me., was tendered a reception by the choir of that church recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cuzner. During the evening Miss McIntire was presented with a handsome silk umbrella in recognition of her faithful service. Light refreshments were served and a most enjoyable program of vocal and instrumental music given.

WANTS CANAL FREE NATIONS TO PAY
THE EXPENSES

LONDON, Oct. 2.—A novel suggestion in regard to the settlement of the Panama Canal difficulty appears in the October number of The Nineteenth Century and After. In an article by J. Ellis Barker, a well-known writer on political subjects, Mr. Barker presents the American case very fairly, and concludes:

"In view of the fact that the Canal is not likely ever to become a paying investment to the United States, it would perhaps be cheapest to make it free for all nations. It cannot, of course, be expected that the United States will make a free gift of the Canal to the nations of the world. The most sensible course for all parties concerned seems to be to free the Panama Canal from duty in the same way in which last century, through America's initiative, the Danish Sound dues were abolished—to call an international conference and arrange for the extinction of Panama tolls by the payment of a lump sum capitalizing the averaging income to be derived from the Canal. In this Great Britain might take the initiative. The cost of working and maintaining the Canal might perhaps be shared by the United States and the British Empire, which are the most interested in the undertaking."

TROUBLE ON BALKAN PENINSULA

The whole of the Balkan peninsula is being rapidly transformed into an armed camp. According to despatches from the capitals of the various States, upwards of a million men have been ordered under arms, and there is a possibility that they may decide once for all in a trial by combat the question of changing the conditions of the inhabitants of the European provinces of Turkey. The effect of a demonstration of the military forces of the Balkan States is first to be tried. For this purpose Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Montenegro have ordered the mobilization of their entire available armies, and if this open threat does not secure what they demand from the Ottoman Government, the next few hours may see further steps taken. The four States of the new Balkan alliance are rapidly organizing to act together in arms for the first time against the common enemy—Turkey. The Ottoman authorities are no less busy. The entire Turkish army has been mobilized and the country seems a unit for war. Despatches from Vienna say that Austria will find it impossible much longer to refrain from taking military precautions in order to keep the Serbians from encroaching on territory which Austria-Hungary insists must remain part of Turkey and not become an adjunct of greater Serbia. The slightest untoward incident will start a general conflagration, according to the prevailing opinion in diplomatic circles here, and the great Powers might easily be drawn into this. From some of the European capitals reports have reached here that men have already crossed the frontiers and begun fighting, but these entirely lack confirmation. It is likely that the reports are based on some of these clashes between frontier guards which have been a daily occurrence in recent months. The only bright feature is that the Balkan States seemed inclined to give the great Powers a little more time in which to try to induce Turkey to introduce the reforms demanded in Macedonia. It is reported today that they intend to send a collective note to Turkey explaining the reasons for their action in mobilizing their armies. As they necessarily must await a reply to this note, the ambassadors of the great Powers in Constantinople will be able further to impress the Porte with the advisability of granting their demands. The Porte, must, in the meantime, however, deal with two notes, both of which are practically ultimatums. One of these is from Serbia and demands the release of Serbian ammunition which has been retained in transit through Turkey, while the other is from Greece, and protests against the detention of Greek shipping, which Turkey has decided to hold up and utilize for the transport of her troops. The time for the reply to the Serbian note does not expire until tonight, so that even in this connection the ambassadors of the great Powers have a full day before them to which to press upon the Porte the advice of their respective foreign offices.

Three Terms? Even Six!

One of the speakers at a bull moose rally at Capitol Heights, Md., last night in the fervor of characteristic Rooseveltian enthusiasm said that the third term talk was "all humbug," and asked: "If he is a good president why not have him six terms?"

Here we get the real gist of the Roosevelt proposition. The colonel himself makes no such bad break as to suggest a twenty-four-year period of service as president, but there are those who without real prejudice feel that he is by no means adverse to the thought of uninterrupted occupancy of the White House.

"If he is a good president why not six terms?" Simply for the reason that no one can possibly be as good a president as all that. Not even Theodore Roosevelt, with all his virtues, all his wisdom, all his absolute honesty, all his unimpeachable truthfulness, all his unselfishness.

Of course, those who ask this six-term question honestly think that Col. Roosevelt is the greatest man who ever lived. They believe he is incapable of making a mistake. They think he is the only man who can save the country from the pernicious influences that now beset it. They regard him as the last hope of the down-trodden and the embodiment of the essential principle of American liberty and progress. So they cannot possibly see any conceivable harm to any honest interest in turning over to him the reins of office without limit of time or condition.

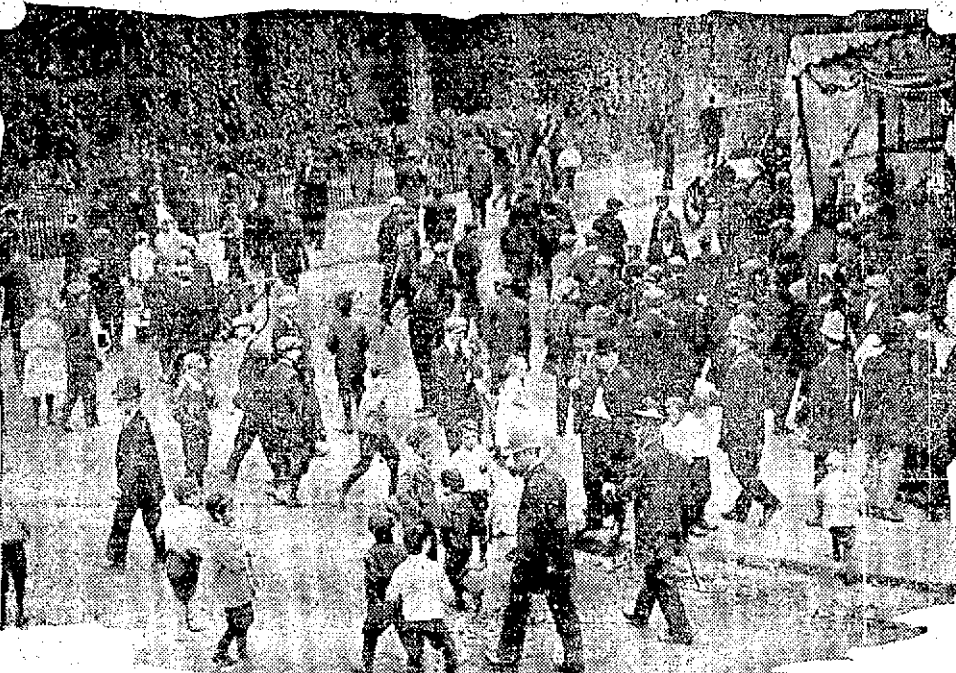

Just how many American voters are there who believe that Theodore Roosevelt is all this and that George Washington was completely in error when he laid down the proposition that no man should be given the presidency for longer than two terms of office?—Washington Star.

The Springfield Republican says: Pittsburgh is to begin at the close of the present month what is described as the most elaborately equipped and extensive system of free evening schools ever attempted in a great city. There will be no entrance examinations, no restriction as to age save the minimum limit of fourteen years, and the range of subjects offered is said to be the largest ever given in an evening school. A specialty, of course, will be made of English courses for foreigners, but much attention will be given to instruction in foreign languages, which will be taught in as thorough and practical a way as possible, and a feature will also be made of training applicants for positions in the civil service. The evening high schools will include a commercial department, with shorthand and typewriting, and, of course, much attention will be given to cooking and sewing for girls and wood and metal work for boys. Nothing is lacking except a provision of leisure for the people who work hard all day. Some can endure an evening of study after their toil, but some of the most promising young people are unable to carry the double load, and there is need for the part-time system as well as for the evening school.

The Boston Transcript remarks that when the peace of a Sabbath day is broken by a clamorous crowd of men and women marching, in proclaimed defiance of both God and constituted authority, which was the demonstration that again threw Lawrence into a turmoil of violence, the situation is one of unusual seriousness. It takes us back to the days of the primeval man and social chaos. It serves notice upon twentieth century civilization that it is confronted with a problem that will not admit of temporizing. The aspect of the present strike or outbreak is an entirely different one from that which early in the year introduced into that city and into the social and industrial conflicts of the time an entirely new element, an element that now for the first time declares itself independent of all standards of human responsibility. "No God, no master," is its shibboleth. It is incarnated and concentrated passion, without guidance, almost without purpose and without restraint, so far as there is any internal influence to exercise it.

The New York Evening Post tersely says the obstinate refusal of the republican party to die is well nigh like a flying in the face of Providence. Besides, it is a flat defiance of the highest medical authority. Good Dr. Roosevelt Saturday pronounced the republican party dead, secundum artem. He listened for its heart beats, held a mirror to its lips, and then turned to his southern audience with the verdict: "The republican party is dead." But the party itself persists in saying that, like the Irishman, it may be dead, but it is not conscious of it. It has a will to live which, after Dr. Roosevelt's sentence of death, is positively wicked. Why can it not be "resigned" and give up the struggle? Instead, we see it acting as if it were very much alive—holding conventions, making nominations, raising money, working like beavers, even pretending to be cheerful. President Taft actually has the impudence to assert that it is the third party which is dying, and that the republicans are getting more vigorous and hopeful every day.

Scenes During the "Demonstration" Strike By Textile Workers at Lawrence, Mass.

Photos by American Press Association.

Employees in the textile mills of Lawrence, Mass., recently indulged in a twenty-four hour "demonstration" strike. The affair was a protest with reference to the cases of Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, organizers of the union to which the workers belong. The demonstration took place simultaneously with the opening of the trial of the two men, who are charged with conspiracy in connection with the death of a woman killed during the strike riots last January. There was some rioting during the demonstration, caused by the efforts of the police to restrain the workers. The photographs show how the police kept the strikers away from the mills.

Bird's Eye Views.

A millionaire baby used to attract attention but it takes a billionaire baby to attract much attention now.

As a man of some science himself Charles Murphy must admire the way Governor Wilson sidesteps a rush.

Tom Lawson manages to have his share of the fun and excitement without being a candidate for anything.

The picturesque discussion of the weather now turns from Oh! Go! and let us on Jupiter Pluvius.

W. J. Bryan will not submit quietly to the appropriation of his ideas by anybody except Governor Wilson.

Concession sense is a valuable possession in a presidential campaign.

The abundant harvests will sober the judgement of the American people.

The Thanksgiving turkeys are getting ready for the November slaughter.

President Taft believes in the budget plan. It will save the people money.

No doubt Becker would like to see the interest in the New York police situation exhaust itself in discussion involving Mayor Gaynor, Commissioner Wallis, and others.

The Bull Moose candidate apparently thinks a campaign fund investigation is as good an opportunity as any to deliver a few ringing denunciations for campaign purposes.

The Socialists are attacking Col. Roosevelt without evoking much reply. Just why they should enjoy impunity is not made clear.

W. J. Bryan is making enough speeches to keep in practice, but finds no demand for the demonstration of whirlpool policies he gave at Baltimore.

As senator La Follette sees the progressive party most of it has gone turkey trotting.

More than 3,000,000 were without employment when the democrats had control of the government the last time. How many do you guess would be out of work if they captured the election of 1912?

The republican party believes in a government strong enough to cope with big business. The democrat party is afraid of the national party and the futile attempts of the several states to deal with the trusts would suit Wall street quite nicely.

Current Comment.

Why The Public Doubts.

The promoters of the corporation which is designed to refinance, if not to merge the local public utilities seem annoyed to find that the people of Washington fail to understand their motives and persist in regarding their enterprise as inimical to the public interests. In such explanation as they have given of their proposed organization they took exception first to the suggestion that there is anything hostile in the welfare of the community, in the new company and second to the idea that because it has been given an extremely wide margin of capitalization their plan is to go at once to the limit. But in none of their explanations is there a word of such specific elucidation as to allay the very natural apprehensions and improvements that must be financed, but give no specifications of what is contemplated in its direction and refer to no acts of congress which call for large additional capital. They refer to the fact that money must be provided to discharge certain bonded obligations without explanation of how it happens that there are no sinking fund provisions for the discharge of these debts already incurred. In short, none of the explanations so far given has really convinced the public that there is any necessity for the refinancing of the local corporations of such a scale as that indicated and overcapitalization with a consequent serious addition to the overhead charge upon the revenues of the corporations.

Much of the distrust with which the people today view large financial transactions directly affecting their daily necessities, in the management of street railroad, lighting and power companies, is caused by the highly complicated modes adopted by promoters and financiers.

To feel strong have good appetite and digestion, sleep soundly and enjoy life like Burdock's Blood Bitters. The family system, 10c. Price, $1.00.

The average man is so simple minded as to think that it is sufficient in floating a public service corporation to sell stock to secure the original capital and then to issue bonds for the extraordinary permanent improvements that are to produce revenue in the future. But he sees a great deal of so called high finance in particularly every one of these operations, with a multiplicity of stock issues, with preferential securities with holding companies and with super holding companies, with exchanges of stock of different scales of equivalents, with bonds issued to take care of prior bonds and in short with such a confusion of terms and devices that it is no wonder he fails to grasp the exact status of any unit of security or the relation of the whole to the single elementary factor of his own accommodation. The prospectus of such a corporation, intelligible of course to the initiate, is as Greek to him. Now is this because he is intelligent. He is simply expecting a straightforward, plain, comprehensible plan that will provide funds for a business which if economically managed will yield its promoters a profit and the public a good and steadily better service.

The date is long gone by when the public's interest can be ignored by all such enterprise is the public consent to the use of the streets. Those are not like private business companies which can be financed, regardless of any obligation to the street surfaces on which cars run and beneath which conduits are laid the people must be consulted merely as to routes and rates but as to the terms on which the organization is formed and the financial basis upon which rates and service must ultimately depend. This is why at this time the district is so keenly interested in and so distrustful of the proposed refinancing of certain of its utilities corporations and why it protests against a hurrying toward consummation in the absence of a public utilities commission or some other mode of supervision which will prevent overcapitalization and future trouble. And that is the sole reason why the explanations that have been offered do not explain and are not acceptable in the community.—Washington Star

The long talked of and looked forward to the harvest supper by the Phoebe of the Second Christian church took place last evening about two hundred participating, of the supper served in the famous Phoebe style. From 5.30 to 7 the vestry was certainly a very busy place, the able corps of waitresses giving everyone strictest attention. The donations were most elaborate, in harvest and autumn colors, constalks, wheat pumpkins, squashes, oak leaves and cut flowers were used, the platform being entirely banked with autumn foliage, while the parts were trimmed with the constalks. This part of the work was in charge of Mrs. Katherine Stacy, who was assisted by other members. The supper was in the hands of Mrs. Arnaldo Natino and six assistants. The program was made up by Mrs. G. H. D. Lamoureux, Mrs. J. W. Hobbs and Mrs. W. S. Splaney. A fancy work table was added and found ready patronage, all articles being disposed of, this being superintended over by Mrs. J. W. Hobbs. The menu comprised the following: corned beef, cabbage, beets, squash, potatoes, carrots, baked beans brown bread, rolls, pickles, cream pie, Indian pudding, assorted pies and coffee.

The program was made up as follows, each number being heartily applauded:

The proceeds of this first harvest supper of this society will add about $10 to the treasury.

Mrs. Helen Johnson of Love lane, returned Wednesday afternoon from a visit to Dover and Haverhill.

A business meeting of the Christian Endeavor society will be held in the church vestry this evening. A social follows.

C. Carroll Bartlett of Chicago, Ill., is the guest of his father, Charles Bartlett.

E. G. Parker Post, C. A. R. meets this evening at Odd Fellows' hall.

Mrs. Charles Hayes, former resident of Kittery, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Marden of New-march street.

Miss Sadie Grant has returned from a visit to the Weirs.

There were 20 members of the Christian Endeavor and Epworth League connected with the local churches in attendance at the Rally at the First Christian church, Kittery Point Tuesday evening, not withstanding the threatening weather and were well repaid for their efforts. The soloists were exceptionally fine and the "address" on "buts" by Miss Koch was enjoyed heartily by the large congregation present. Miss Margaret Koch of Spencer Mass., is certainly doing a good work among the young people there.

Rev. Arnaldo Natino arrived home Tuesday evening from his month's vacation which has been spent in Boston, Connecticut and New York City.

Miss Dora Preble of Portsmouth was a visitor in town on Monday with friends.

The Rockingham Christian Conference will convene with the Second Christian church Tuesday and Wednesday, October 8 and 9.

Mrs. Ellen Sexton is improving from recent illness at her home on Rogers road.

Work is being done at the entrance to Orchard Grove Cemetery, in preparation for the new "Receiving tomb" which is to be built by Mr. James "Pie" of Kittery. Milton Cochran and his men are engaged in removing the ledge. This is something that is very much needed and in order to have this, sufficient money should be given by lot owners. There is need of more of them securing one or more shares in the association which has been formed recently.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Katherine Lonergan.

On Thursday, Sept. 26, Mrs. Thomas F. Lonergan was taken to the Cottage Hospital for an appendicitis operation, she having been taken suddenly ill the previous night. The operation resulted in her death, which occurred Oct. 3, just one week after her entrance to the hospital. Mrs. Lonergan was an excellent woman, with many friends a wife and mother beyond esteem, an upright and conscientious member of the Catholic church. Her husband in his great affliction is left with two sons and two daughters to mourn her loss. She was about forty years of age, and has passed the most of her life in Portsmouth, and for nearly fifteen years has lived with her family at 114 Maplewood avenue. Her father, Mr. John Hartwell and his brother James and her sister Miss Margaret removed to Lynn several years ago.

HEADACHY, BILIOUS, UPSET? "CASCARETS"

Bilious Headache Means Bowels are Clogged and Liver Stagnant

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Now now exists. To this end we stand for the definite repeal of the present license law.

That we affirm the attitude of this convention against the liquor traffic as a great moral wrong, and therefore against the policy of government license and protection.

Also that we express ourselves as being in favor of the Kenyon-Sheppard Institute Liquor Bill, now before Congress, against the interstate liquor traffic. (A copy of this resolution to be sent to each member of our Congressional representation).

Lastly, inasmuch as the towns must vote Nov. 5, on the question of license or no-license and whereas Nov. 10, is recommended by the Sunday School Temperance committee as "World's Temperance Sunday," that we recommend that the churches in the towns observe Nov. 2, as Temperance Sunday instead of Nov. 10 and thus by a morning sermon and Sunday School exercises emphasize the duty of every voter to vote no-license.

Resolved, That this Convention emphatically urge all New Hampshire pastors and churches to join in the observance of Home Mission Week, Nov. 17-24, recommended to us by the Home Missions Council and the Council of Women for Home Missions and

Resolved, That we join in a similar campaign under the auspices of the Foreign Mission Societies to celebrate March 19, 1913, and in the period following Easter, under the auspices of the Publication Society, to celebrate June 8th.

Resolved, That this Convention express its deep conviction of the urgency of the call for labor among the foreign born, who are in New Hampshire, and that it will appropriate a larger expenditure of effort and means in the evangelization of those who are among us without pastoral care.

Whereas, A fund for the benefit of Baptist Ministers and Missionaries in certain exigencies amounting to $250,000 was pledged during the last year.

Resolved, That we heartily commend the spirit with which the undertaking was accomplished, and we recommend to the Baptist churches in New Hampshire, that they join with the Baptist brotherhood of other states in the effort to greatly increase the fund in order that it may be adequate for the sustaining of the afore-said class in their days of need and of old age.

Resolved, That this Convention rejoice in the unusual attendance of the pastors in this annual meeting and that this Convention thanks those churches which have contributed the two dollars requested, for the purpose of making the meetings of the Convention more representative of its constituency.

Resolved, That we recommend the continuance of this plan until further action of the Convention, according to the resolution adopted last year which recommends to all Baptist churches of the State that they contribute with their offering for the minutes, two dollars each, which sum, according to the report of an investigating committee, is the average travelling expenses when all ministers attend the Convention.

Resolved, That we commend the work of the N. H. Anti-Saloon League, and express our confidence in its efficient superintendence.

That we affirm the attitude of the Convention to be steadfastly opposed to the liquor traffic as a great moral wrong.

That we are unqualifiedly opposed to the policy of governmental license and protection of the traffic.

That we are in favor of the bill—Kenyon Sheppard Bill—now before Congress for restricting the interstate liquor traffic within no-license territory.

Resolved, That we reaffirm our purpose of like mind for the development of public sentiment which will express itself in the election of a legislature for 1913 that will make the repeal of the license law the important issue of the session.

Resolved, That we do hereby sincerely thank the pastor and members of the Middle Street Baptist church for the generous and delicate courtesies extended to the Convention during the meetings of 1912.

Approved.

F. A. HAWLEY,
RALPH A. SHERWOOD.

The convention closed with an evening service which was largely attended, the church being crowded. It opened with a song service led by Rev. W. A. Jones. Rev. W. C. Meyers delivered an address on "Winning of Men." President Rush Rhees, D. D., LL. D., of the Rochester University and a former pastor of this city delivered an address which was very scholarly and interesting.

A few words by the new president closed the convention of 1912.

FOR THE HOSTESS.

A good part of hospitality consists in letting guests alone. The accomplished hostess tries as far as possible to leave the entertainment of her guests in their own hands, making it her duty to study their preferences. She does not ask them to rise at unusual hours to drive, walk or play tennis, when they prefer perhaps to read, write or do other things.

At English country homes visiting as a certain system about it. Guests are asked for a certain number of days and they are expected to leave in the morning of the day the visit ends. In an English home a guest arriving after the luncheon hour seldom sees the hostess until tea is served or perhaps until the dinner assemble. A maid conducts the guest to a room, serves tea or some similar refreshment, and informs the new-comer of the family dinner hour.

The American hostess manages her establishment in a less ceremonious manner. She frequently drives to meet the guest, and though she may have many servants, often personally conducts a friend to her room. Before her separation for the night the hostess informs her guests that motors or horses will be at their disposal in the morning and perhaps arranges a tennis or golf tournament for those who enjoy the sports.

The mistress of the house, having many demands upon her time, frequently likes to have the morning to herself and she arranges this with an easy mind when she knows that the amusement of her guests has been provided for. Thus those enjoying the hospitality of the house are free to do as they please.

On the other hand the guest has a part to play. Naturally she will not intrude herself upon her hostess' privacy, nor upset the domestic arrangements by refusing to enter into any entertainment already arranged.

HOTEL DESTROYED AT HOLLIS

HOLLIS, N. H., Oct. 2.—Cranford Inn was burned and other buildings in the village were threatened by flames which were fanned by a gale of wind this morning.

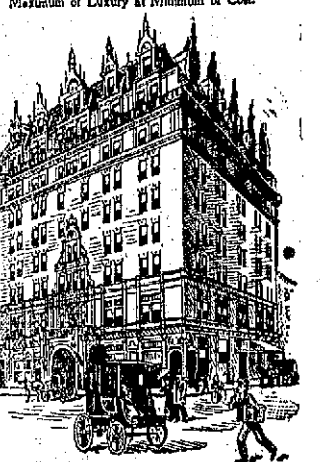

The fire started from the kitchen range about 10:30 o'clock, and was soon sweeping through the large frame structure. The townspeople saved part of the furniture, but the local fire department, which consists of a combination chemical engine, was unable to cope with the conflagration.

Ald was asked of Nashua, Chief Charles H. Whitney did not think a steamer could reach the scene in time to do any good, the distance over the road being seven miles, but he dispatched several automobiles loaded with firemen with hand tubs to prevent the spread of the flames to other buildings.

The hotel contained a general store and post office. The total loss will reach $40,000. The building was built three years ago by Worcester Brothers, and is owned by Franklin Worcester for Governor. The hotel and store were conducted by M. L. Richards, who ran the Rockaway at York Beach.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Fanny's First Play" Overwhelming New York Success.

The first production in America of George Bernard Shaw's latest satire, entitled "Fanny's First Play," was given at William Collier's Comedy Theatre on Monday evening, September 16, and it was pronounced by dramatic critics in the metropolis to be the novelty of the season. The play has enjoyed a run of two solid years in London where it still draws crowded houses, and there can be no doubt that it is destined to be an equal success here. The play was presented by an English company under the direction of Granville Barker and the actors received the unqualified praise of every critic in New York.

Miss Dazie A Dramatic Actress for One Performance.

Miss Dazie, whose dancing is one of the main features of "The Merry Countess" at the Casino Theatre, made her debut as a dramatic actress last Wednesday afternoon, assuming the role of "Beatrice" in the last act of "The Master of the House" at the 39th Street Theatre for the matinee performance only. Though Miss Dazie has acquired fame not only as a dancer but also as a pantomime artist, this was her first experience in a "speaking part," and she was as excited as if she had never before been on the stage. She did her special dance in "The Merry Countess" as usual and then, hurried by changing costume and making up, hastened across the street to the other theatre in time for the beginning of the fourth act of "The Master of the House," the only act in which the character of "Beatrice" is seen. "Beatrice" is the daughter of the man who has forsaken his family, and she is the first to receive him on his return home. Miss Dazie astonished the critics who were present by the genuine emotional power of her acting, and more particularly by the natural charm of her voice and the excellence of her diction. Miss Dazie declared that she has no intention of giving

Thirty thousand voices—What a grand chorus! And that's the number of American men and women who are public praising Doan's Kidney and bladder pills. They say it to friends. They tell it in the home papers. Portsmouth people are in this chorus. Here's a Portsmouth case. James Pickles, 11 Burdett St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I was afflicted with kidney disease for several years and was unable to find relief from dull pains in my back until a few months ago when I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Philbrick's Pharmacy. Often I had such acute twinges across my loins that I could scarcely move. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were so frequent in passage that I was obliged to arise several times at night. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me from the first and continued use entirely cured me."

The Dolly Sisters Teach the Poor to Dance.

The Dolly Sisters, who are now dancing in "The Merry Countess" at the Casino Theatre, have determined to give free lessons in their art to fifty poor girls of New York City who have the requisite ability to become professional dancers. The Messrs. Shubert have agreed to let them have the stage of the Casino for three hours every Thursday morning, and one that many experts may be developed through this experiment.

"London" says Gaby Deslys in a letter to her American manager, is, you would say, "cold moussee." They are provokingly slow, Mr. Piller and myself danced "The Gaby Glide" and because we actually didn't glide all of the time they said the dancer was a moussee. What rot! Then in my act "Mlle. Chic" I used to shed a few garments before jumping into bed. When I was criticised for that I went to bed in a riding habit. That seemed to be eminently proper from an English standpoint. I hope in America it will not be so." Mlle. Deslys will sail for New York the latter part of this month.

"Two Little Brides," in which James T. Powers is being starred this season by the Messrs. Shubert, has just been produced in London under the title of "The Grass Widows." Two Little Brides is really of German origin and it was during his sojourn in Berlin that Gustav wrote the music of the operetta. Then came a translation and adaptation in which James T. Powers figured as part author. The operetta has now been sung in three countries, Germany, England and America.

"The no-star" rule is now being rigidly enforced at the Winter Garden, New York, where "The Passing Show of 1912" is the current attraction. Not a name is displayed either in front of the theatre, on the billboards or in the advertisement. The same idea has been adopted in connection with "The Merry Countess," the Strauss operetta at the Casino Theatre. On a recent Sunday the Messrs. Shubert advertised four performances and not one of the advertisements contained the name of a single player.

Mrs. Albert Gallatin Wheeler, who attained much notoriety recently by declaring that she could not live on her $5000 per month which was allowed her as alimony, has turned to her stage as a means of increasing her income. She is now singing in "Whirl of Society," the Winter Garden show which is just beginning a long tour of Shubert theatres throughout the country.

Miss Anna Wheaton will again be seen in support of James T. Powers during his tour in Two Little Brides, which Mr. Powers as his last metropolitan vehicle.

Adelaide and Hughes, who are dancing in "The Passing Show of 1912" at the Winter Garden, are planning to produce several vaudeville acts. To get suitable material they have entered into an agreement with Emil August, the ballet master of "The Ballet of 1830," to train a number of Winter Garden girls in the arts of toe-dancing.

Mlle. Bordoni, a noted French danseuse will sail for America in October to appear at the Winter Garden. She will be placed in "The Passing Show of 1912" as a feature of that attraction.

Miss Gertrude Hoffman will begin her season in Philadelphia on September 30th, one week later than originally planned. Her new revue entitled "From Broadway to Paris" is directed by the enterprise.

Annette Kellerman and a company of international artists will begin a tour of Shubert theatres on September 28 in Philadelphia. William Morris is directing the enterprise.

Miss Jose Collins, who sings the title role in the production of "The Merry Countess" at the Casino Theatre under the management of the Messrs. Shubert, has purchased a home at Bayside, Long Island, and means to take up her residence permanently in this country. Miss Collins, who is the daughter of Lotie Collins, came to this country first a year ago and made her American debut at the Winter Garden.

Miss Florence Reed, who is playing the leading feminine role in "The Master of the House" at the 39th Street Theatre, is to have complete managerial charge of the production after Mr. Julius Steger leaves New York for his annual vaudeville tour. This is the first time that a woman has been placed in supreme artistic authority with a Shubert company.

FOURTH INTERNATIONAL CONSERVATION CONGRESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—At the opening of the Fourth International Conservation Congress, held here, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former chief of the Bureau of Chemistry in the United States Department of Agriculture, in his address departed from his usual conservation program of forests, mines and running streams, to take as his subject the conservation of man, dealing particularly with the means of avoiding avoidable death.

As a national asset, he said, in discussing this departure, human life takes precedence of all other forms of life. Incidentally, in the course of his remarks, he attacked some of the findings of the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography, recently held in Washington, on the ground that they favored the use of impure food and thereby tended to produce weakness in the human race.

The average expectation of life in the United States, Dr. Wiley stated, he had found from statistics, to be about forty-four years, an average equal to that held in England, France and Belgium, but lower than that of Sweden and Holland.

As a means of preventing disease of all kinds, Dr. Wiley advocated a higher education on matters of hygiene. Through this means, he said, not only would the individual learn how to take care of his health so that his system would not be open to attacks of germs, but he would also know how to avoid contagion from others. This was the only form of segregation, he said, that is practical because the State, no matter how hard it tries, can never force a complete quarantine upon those who are unwilling.

"What a sorry spectacle was presented at the Fifteenth International Congress of Hygiene and Demography at Washington last week," said Dr. Wiley, "when Professor Long, member of the Remsen Board, attempted to justify the addition of an active drug to the food supply of the nation. Dr. Long was one of the most enthusiastic proponents of benzene of soda in the Federal Court of Indianapolis when those who secured the appointment of the Reference Board, in defiance of law, sought to force the people of Indiana to eat their adulterated products. The people ask for bread, and Dr. Long and his assistants give them a stone in the form of the moribund benzene."

"What is in sight in the way of the prolongation of life? Is there any hope to be offered to man of greater freedom from disease and a longer life? I answer unhesitatingly in the affirmative. Why should he be content with an average life of forty-four years. There is historical evidence to show that man's greatest activities are developed with experience, and that the age between sixty and seventy is more productive for one who has lived in accordance with nature. It is shown from statistics that we die sixteen years before we reach the maximum usefulness of man. I would like to see more old men."

"To all this, objection may be made that a place must be made for the young man and young woman; that the old man and woman keep the young from development and useful-

GORBETT HAS A CHANCE FOR LIFE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—James J. Corbett, ex-champion pugilist, who was operated on for appendicitis, yesterday, is likely to recover, the surgeons in Jefferson Hospital said today. He passed a comfortable night, despite the fact that the appendix was ruptured before the operation, a condition sometimes fatal peritonitis, but there was reason to hope, the surgeons said, that his life would be saved.

ness. But to this I reply that there is infinite opportunity for good work offered to all. If we can secure a race free from disease, endowed with all those qualities of mind and body, which make for human efficiency, we need not ask that everyone become eminent and wealthy, but each can perform the duties which come to him in a way to develop a uniform excellence of the human race.

"We have room in this country for millions more of people. We welcome the infant and the child, but let us keep the man and woman. There is room for all.

"Human life with all its possible attainments is far beyond valuation in money. We should reverse the table, and instead of human life being estimated in dollars, the dollar should be valued only for what it can do for greater humanity."

This was the keynote of the annual address of President J. B. White, which was a ringing declaration of the principles of the conservation movement and an optimistic prediction of the results it is destined to accomplish.

"Human life is our greatest asset, and its waste is a permanent loss," he said. "The wealth of the nation is in its men, thrifty, honest, capable and patriotic men—in their moral and physical health. We want to increase the ratio of the value of man to the soil, of man to all and any of his products, of man to money, and to Fisher."

Mr. Stimson, turning to his own department, said as the Department of War had little to do with the conservation of life, he would have to deal with the material side of conservation. He reviewed the progress of conservation as to river transportation and water power regulation.

President White read a letter expressing President Taft's regrets for his inability to attend.

Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War, was President Taft's representative at the Congress.

"The trust of all indications of the interest with which President Taft regards the conservation of the natural resources of this country," said Mr. Stimson, "lies in the character of the man he has placed at the head of the Department of the Interior in order to conserve them—Walter L.

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO NAVY YARD EMPLOYEES

One Third Completed.

One third of the quay wall now under construction by Fitzgibbon and Dolan has been completed. The granite is not expected to appear above low water mark before January 1, 1913.

He Can't Stand It.

The Captain of the workmen boat "Bingo" which took the place of the "Yeast Cake" in the fleet is said to have grown grey in his attempt to argue with the Bull Moose men on the political situation and that he is contemplating of engaging some famous orator to give them battle on the daily trips to and from the yard.

Foundry Improvements.

It is now understood that the department will connect the former machinery shop of the Construction and repair with the foundry of that former department. This plan will give the yard a large foundry by utilizing buildings 45, 75 but it does away with the proposed $2000,000 structure for which Congress passed the necessary appropriation five years ago.

Still They Come.

Seven laborers, three shipsmiths, one blacksmith, one anglesmith, nine blacksmith helpers, four shipwrights, three apprentice shipwrights are the latest that have been subjected to a furlough of 30 days.

Sightseeing at the Yard.

Nearly one hundred of the delegates to the Baptist convention here visited the navy yard on Wednesday afternoon. They were escorted around the reservation by boatswain Dahlman, and found much pleasure and interest in their visit.

Straggler for the Prison

Deputy Chief Hurley was at the yard today where he returned a straggler to the naval prison.

Still a Mystery.

The robbery of valuable metal from the rigging loft on September 2, is still a mystery and yard officials have been unable to get any trace of the missing brass, copper, and composition.

Off for Boiler Inspection.

The quarterly inspection of the boilers of the ferry boat 132 is on today and the yard launch is making the regular trips.
